

Angela Wallace

From: The Heritage Council [Newsletter@heritagecouncil.com]
Sent: 07 September 2007 11:31
To: Angela Wallace
Subject: Heritage Council Newsletter

If you are having trouble viewing this newsletter, click here.

Wednesday, September 5, 2007

Issue 33

VOLUME 1 ISSUE 33

News

- Launch of Heritage Week 2007
- Rare Goat Moth Discovered on Heritage Week Wildlife Walk
- Butterflies and Moths are Providing Early Proof of Climate Change in Ireland
- A Guide to Ireland's Seashore
- Athenry Historic Walled Town
- Everyday Architecture of Laois

Upcoming Events

- Planning and Design for Heritage and Development Conference
- Impacts of Boat Wash
- CELT Weekend in the Woods
- Discovering Laois Wildlife
- Discovering Kildare Wildlife
- Irish Seedsavers Events
- Axes, Warriors & Windmills
- EUROPARC 2007 Conference
- European Tourism and the Environment, Promotion and Protection, Achieving the Balance

Jobs

- Research Officer

Tenders

- Countryside Recreation Strategy

Publications

- Waterways Corridor Study 2006

NEWS

Launch of Heritage Week 2007
 Farnleigh, Dublin : Saturday 25 August 2007

Heritage Week got off to a great start at the national launch in Farnleigh where 4,500 thousand people turned up to participate in the day's events. Minister John Gormley officially launched the week. The feedback to date has been overwhelmingly positive with a great turn out to events this year. We hope you got to take part and our thanks to everyone who took the time to be involved and organise many of the wonderful events that took place over the week.
 Isabell Smyth
 Communications Officer

Handwritten note: L1713 S113 No 114

>> Full story

Rare Goat Moth Discovered on Heritage Week Wildlife Walk
 Windsor Bog in Coolrain, Co Laois

Oisín Bennett and Joe McCormack with their Goat Moth Caterpillar on Windsor Bog Coolrain during Heritage Week

>> Full story

Butterflies and Moths are Providing Early Proof of Climate Change in Ireland
 New species found - others under threat

The numbers and location of several species of butterflies and moths have changed dramatically in Ireland over the past number of years.

>> Full story

A Guide to Ireland's Seashore

Rare Goat Moth Discovered by Laois Boys on Heritage Week Wil